Washington O' Washington
 We love you we love you Love you for all your worth and more
 In our hearts is the field where ever we be we will always keep your name and will raise your banner high for Washington
 we praise thee more Love every part of our School and adore every inch of our ground when ever you need us dear Washington we will always be around

IN MEMORY OF

JAMES AND LARRY WASHINGTON

Memories live with us when all else is passed. They are incrustated over with sublime and pleasing thoughts, though monuments are overgrown with moss: The life of souls on earth last beyond departure. As for James and Larry Washington, we will always feel their lives touching ours, their voices speaking to us, and their spirits talking to us in the familiar things they touched, worked with, and loved. They shall live in the lives of all others who knew them. However, "There is no Death! What seems so is transition; this life of mortal breath is but a suburb of the life Elysian, whose portal we call Death."

Dedication

Most Reverend Harold R. Perry

God give us men! a time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith,
and ready hands;
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
Men who have honor; men who will not lie.

This was the utterance of Josiah Gilbert Holland in "The Day's Demand," and is the answer to our prayers; for truly God has blessed us with such a one as is evidenced in the life of this son of Lake Charles.

He seems to be of the realization that "heaven is not reached at a single bound but that we build the ladder by which we rise from the lowly earth to the vaulted skies, and we mount to its summit round by round"; for his life evidences the lowly, time-honored spirit of a man so Christ-like in his living: devout in the service of God, diligent in his work with and for man, and submissively accepting the tasks assigned to his hands.

The dedication of the "The Indian" is such a "mere" thing compared to this man's dedication to the service of God and the salvation of man. May God be his ever-present shield and comfort.

Administration

Principal's Message

An education is one of the joys of this great life. It makes one live and appreciate the finer things of this age.

It gives the know how to fully develop ones talents. It raises and equips us to meet the many problems that surround us.

Here at Washington we tend to teach some of the things that are not found directly in the textbook but, that part of life that leads to the well rounded citizen.

Striving ever to imitate the lives of others that have wrought so well in honor and fame to teach the co-operative spirit of being able to assume our own responsibilities and to work with the people who render the greatest service to the greatest numbers are usually educated. As a common expression the purpose of education is to make one's life a greater success.

Many boys and girls have the mistaken idea that to be successful is good luck, fortune or some other over night happen of the fairy god mother,

The real fortune comes at the end of the hard workers trail of learning and applying ones capabilities. Living standards are raised daily, requirements definite, employment harder, and fields over crowded. All of this should tend to make young people realize that regular attendance in schools master daily all requirements are necessary to achieve has given goal.

Let us face it as a faculty, parents and the general public that they must get their training at home, school, church and community.

In order to do an effective job let us all stress the responsibility and secure for every youth the best education that can be given to an American.

Let me in my conclusion pause to congratulate our "Year Book Staff" for this beautiful piece of work. Untiringly have they worked to produce this Annual of 1966.

For all of this we, "Thank you."

Mrs. Jessie D. Whiston
Principal
