EVERYWHERE

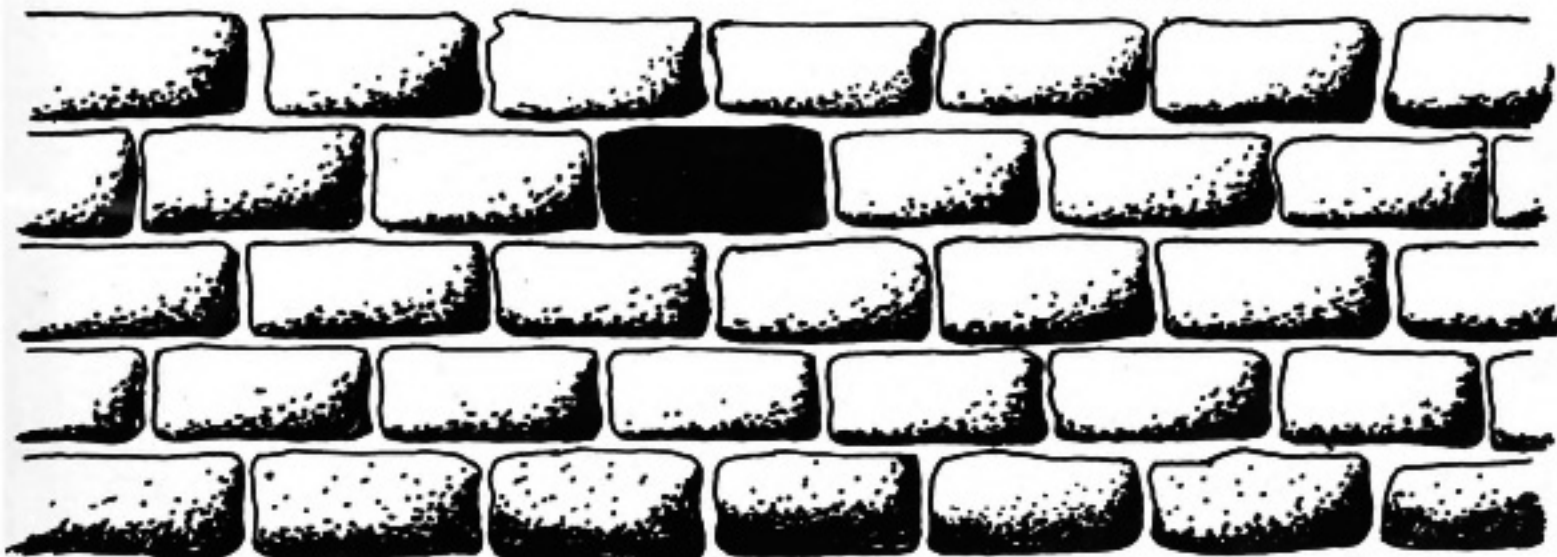

"Stay in school," "Don't be a drop-out." These are the constant cries of educators, world leaders, and even adults that did not get a high school education. The national situation today demands that the minimum education be at least a high school one.

Involved with educators and aspiring to develop into world leaders ourselves, we, the staff of the Trojan '67 dedicate our yearbook to all drop-outs everywhere. We want you, Drop-outs, to see what you are missing. We want you to notice the smiles on our faces throughout our book, the wonderful educational experiences we are enjoying, and the meaningful core-curricular activities that are sponsored for our benefit. We want you to wonder how it feels to attend literary rallies; to play football, baseball, basketball, and to run track; to sing in the choir or play in the band; to attend the annual junior-senior prom; to attend Bayou Boys or Girls State; to receive a class ring and wear it proudly; to boast of a picture in cap and gown; and finally to march down the aisle and receive a high school diploma.

We want you, Drop-outs, everywhere, to know that our high school education will enable us to enter any college of our choice at any time we choose; and any business school or trade school. We also want you to know that our high school education will enable us to get better paying jobs and that during the course of our lifetime, we may receive at least $150,000.00 more than you will. We want you to know that you may be fired so that we high school graduates can be hired, and that we will be given the better jobs while you remain with the most menial.

Dear Drop-outs, above all, we want this, our Trojan '67 to be an inspiration to you to want to return to some high school and complete a twelfth grade education and to go on to even greater heights. Notice the illustration below.

THIS IS

LINCOLN

MR. J. A. CULLIER
Principal

We, administrators, faculty, and student body, began this year with eager anticipation. Our physical plant had taken on a new, fresh look and we felt that this impetus would carry all Lincolmites to new heights.

Here at Lincoln we are continually striving for an excellence in education that will prepare our students for the competitive world. We have learned to appraise each facet of our culture and we seek to decide the best for our students. As principal of Lincoln, I feel that our year-book is in the realm of our continuous search for inspiration. It is in keeping with our highest traditions and ideals. This is a continuance of the goals that we have set for Lincoln.

MR. L. JOHNSON
Assistant Principal

Because of our great concern that you - Trojans of '67 - recognize the challenge facing you to study harder, longer, and more carefully -- to become productive, responsible, and mature citizens of the society in which we live, I greet you saying, "The most important facet of life today is education. Without it, the individual and society suffer. The world today demands alert, creative, and imaginative young men and women. These we must furnish."

We at Lincoln will ever strive to provide you with the background needed for full participation in the mainstream of American life and culture. As you leave us, remember, never fear defeat of failure--you were made for victory and not defeat--nothing can beset you so long as you aspire sincerely toward the highest ideals.

YEARBOOK ADVISOR

Mr. S. W. Crosby

Someone has said, "Education is the key." And rightly so, for without it today, what is man?

Reflected on these pages are the many facets of an education, and of Lincoln High School. Recorded on the faces of the Lincoln family are the successes, the fun and enjoyment, and the great aspirations that are for those who deal with, and are a part of education. Many years from now we may look at these pages and remember the many experiences we had in the teaching and in the learning areas. We can reminisce about our struggles and about the striving that we experienced in meeting the challenge of the times and the great rewards that were ours.

To the yearbook staff, the Art department, and all who contributed to the success of the Trojan '67, I express sincere gratitude for having brought forth this picturesque and unique publication.

SERVICE . . .

To serve is perhaps man's highest calling -- and to serve well is his greatest achievement.

Today, more than ever, education is a demanding prerequisite to service in almost any field. As graduates, you have certainly earned applause and a place of honor.

Congratulations! And best wishes as you continue your progress toward making even more valuable contributions to yourselves and your country.

From your friends and neighbors at. . . .

LOUISIANA POWER & LIGHT CO.
