THE SISTERS OF THE BLESSED SACRAMENT for Indians and Colored People

"We live in an age when the genius of man has brought forth tremendous energy from the tiniest particle of matter. It should not be difficult for us, who live in this atomic age, to understand how the grace of God has made the human a "super-atom." Within a human person, art, music, science, speech, history, geometry—all knowledge—can be exploding molecules bombarded by protons of faith and electrons of charity, setting free the supernatural force of God-filled souls. Grace gives each tiny act of man a tremendous spiritual energy.

The greatest force in the world today is not the atomic bomb but rather the super-atom of character. Our most important task in life is to gain more and more knowledge of truth, and to learn how to live by truth. Only when we have done both will the super-atomic energy of God-filled souls be able to banish war from the world and bring peace and liberty to all.

No young person ever had greater opportunities or greater cause for encouragement than has the young person today. No effort that you make to prove worthy of the task before you is ever lost. Faith and work make a triumphant combination."

DEDICATION

We, the Class of 1958, gratifyingly dedicate this volume of The Crusader to Reverend Mother Anselm, Superior-General of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament, in appreciation for the inspiring example of her dedicated life to Our Eucharistic Lord. During Reverend Mother's visit to us, we were inflamed with the desire to make our life like a beautiful monstrance—Christ, Our Lord, the Center; we the rays radiating from Him. The beauty of the rays caused by our fulfillment of His designs. Around the Eucharistic Lord circle all the activities of our school. He is the spirit, the soul, the heart of the educational system. He is the living God for whom our school was built and the Leader to whom we students are directed for our successful careers in time and eternity. We are in close association with the Source and Creator of Grace, the Lover of the young, the Strength of the tempted, and the Teacher of truth. May our every act be a reflex from this great Monstrance.

The Editorial Staff of 1958 takes great pride and pleasure in presenting to you a treasured masterpiece, this new edition of The Crusader. While leafing through the pages, you will recall your school days, your various moods and whims, your participation in various activities, your toils, efforts, success, and joys, depicted by the pictures we have captured of our students.

This gives you an opportunity to reminisce and relive your cherished dreams stored in your gallery of memories. We will consider this a reward for the effort, time and joy spent in preparing this volume.

CLASS HISTORY

In 1954, thirty-five eager Freshmen passengers began their flight. Destination . . . the land of opportunity. As the plane turned up its motors, every passenger rushed to select his seat, secured himself safely and prepared to observe and absorb all that was necessary in order someday to be the pilots of education.

Soon we were off the ground flying high and jubilantly. All were happy in a carefree mood. Even the air seemed to be charged with a brassy brilliance as though the sun were shining with double intensity. It was not long before we hit air-pockets of Civics, General Math., and English, which shook us up considerably. We were soon calmed by the Principles of Religion which prepared us to steer through difficulty.

Happy and with undaunted courage plus encouragement after winning L.I.A.L.A. honors in Math. and Music, we landed for our first stop.

After a three-month layover for vacation we boarded the plane again. In a few minutes the motors were purring smoothly and once more we were taxiing for a rise. The throttle of opportunity was opened, the motors of classroom routine roared and the ship's nose pulled up. We felt the increase of speed and took to the air with grace and ease, this time carrying a lesser load than before. Some of our classmates preferred to be grounded. Her wheels rose from the surface of the ground. At the sight of Biology the ship bounded forward like a horse vaulting a hurdle. She had taken up her battle with the head wind that was trying vainly to hold her back from her goal. Looking forward some distance we noticed that layers of clouds were joining the fog of Julius Caesar. As we flew patches of blue sky appeared through the thinning clouds. Awards in Algebra and Biology, acceptance into the Glee Club caused the fog to completely disappear. As we circled the field for a landing we felt a justifiable pride in our accomplishments.

We gathered for our Junior trip and asked what's the weather along the route? Strong head winds in Geometry, Ceiling overcast at twenty-five hundred feet for our Junior Prom—Theme—Waltz Time in Manhattan. Visibility twelve miles of French Vocabulary. Clouds breaking in World History. The propeller began to cut the air. Next moment the wheels were free. The plane rolled across the level runway with speed that increased with every yard that passed under her wings. There were times when one had an urge to parachute to safety, but were encouraged to continue by more L.I.A.L.A. honors. This time in Geometry, English and Music.

As we boarded the plane for the final lap, we were bestowed the coveted title of "Seniors" and wore the Class Ring as a symbol of industry, courage and perseverance. As the novelty wore off we noticed the clouds were more heavily banked than we anticipated. Certainly there was no lessening of the wind. We were confronted with Chemistry, French, English, American History, Home Economics, and Industrial Arts. Steadily the plane drove on, but one could see that the progress was slow. It was getting late and there was a long distance to go, difficulties to surmount. Our past is unforgettable and unregrettable, our future imperceptible and unpredictable. The clouds, which once seemed a mass of barriers, took the form of caps and gowns. We could see the mist uncovering life's land of opportunity. It was only a matter of time till we looked back to the plane that had so bravely battled the wind and had so victoriously come to land its passengers safely.
