The Rights of Man Come Not From the Gen

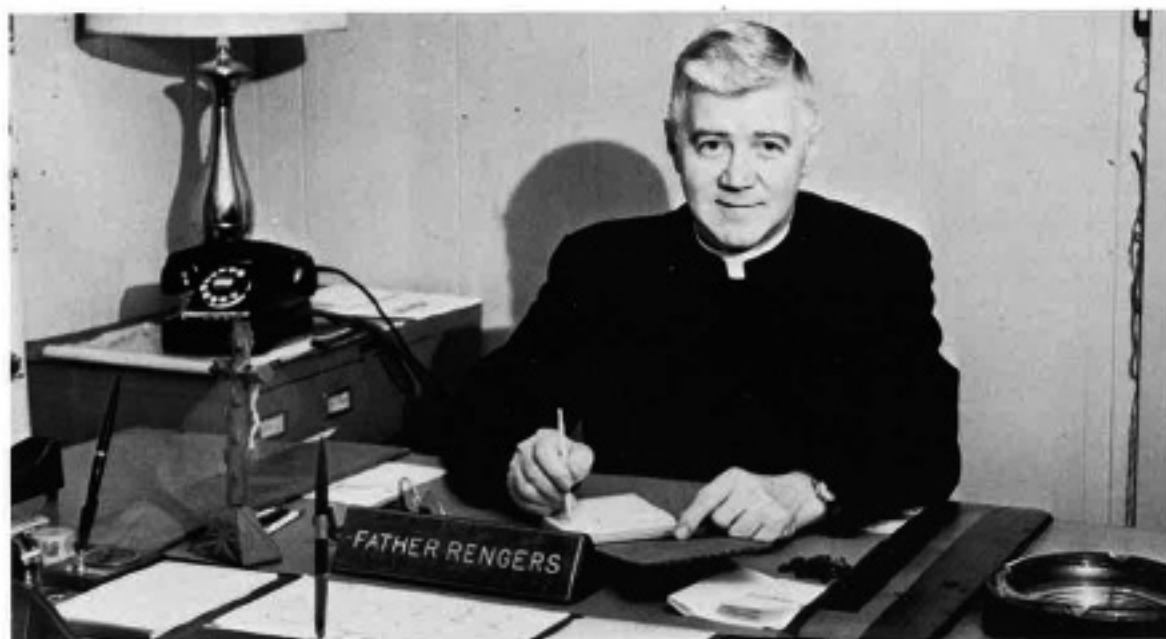

Our Beloved Bishop

His Excellency
The Most Reverend
Maurice Schexnayder, D.D.
Bishop of Lafayette

Education is the unfolding of human life and human destiny. Human life evolves in the field of truth, goodness and beauty. The normal human being has capacities in three great areas: a capacity for knowledge; wisdom, a capacity for love; virtue, and a capacity for creativity; art. These capacities give the extent of the field for education. They provide for the scholar, for the saint, and for the artist.

The purpose of all education is to bring to maturity the entire range of human abilities. The purpose of Christian education is to form Christ in those regenerated by Baptism. It is to turn out a Christian. To become a true and perfect Christian, we must become like Christ. The product of Christian education is "the supernatural man who thinks, judges and acts constantly and consistently in accordance with right reason illumined by the supernatural light of the example and teaching of Christ."

Of the State but From the Hand of God.

Dear Graduates:

Why is it that the dreams of our youth so quickly vanish and the greatness to which we once aspired is quickly exchanged for plain mediocrity? Why is it that the years so often bring disillusionment and even despair to many? Could it be that so many identify greatness with fame?

All those whom the world makes famous are not necessarily great. To me, heroic greatness is the result of the constant practice of virtue under the most difficult circumstances. Fame can be and often is attained much cheaper than that.

To be kind this once is not so difficult. But to be kind (even though the object of your kindness is not necessarily attractive) today, tomorrow and on through the years demands a heroic quality of virtue.

There are more truly great people than famous people in this world of ours today. They are too often unknown; their praises too often unsung. However, the men and women who consistently and conscientiously and perseveringly hold to their principles and exercise virtue in spite of all kinds of opposition - they are our modern heroes; our truly great people. As children of God we are all called to greatness. We are challenged to prove our greatness by pursuing our destiny according to nature and grace.

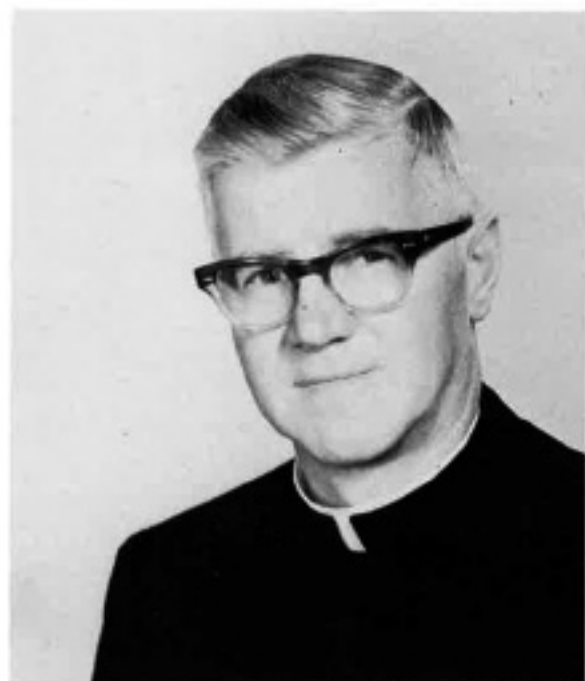

It is my fond wish that you, our graduates, as well as all who read this, will have the strength and courage to break the shackles of mediocrity and soar off to the regions of the unsung heroes of our present day.

May God bless you!

Sincerely,

Father Joseph Rengers, c.s.c.

Down through the ages the plea of the Divine Teacher resounds: "The souls of these pupils are very dear to Me because they are in so many ways the fountains and hope of what is to come hereafter. I am relying on you, Christian teacher, to bring them to Me as the triumph of My redemptive act." "That they may know Thee and Jesus Christ Whom Thou hast sent," is our prayer for assistance in bringing souls to God.

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1964, are honored to dedicate our annual to the memory of our late President, John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Through the light of his most tragic death was seen shining the virtues of courage and goodness. By the grace of God, may the spirit of America, the spirit of his valor walk the face of the earth and instill deeply into the hearts and minds of the youth of today these most inspiring traits which made him a man among men. May the torch that was burning in his heart be as one in the hearts of all of us.

We have captured quotations from his many speeches and have recorded them on every page within this annual as a future reminder of a great man.

IN MEMORIAM

Your spirit of faith, with full eternal flame,
'Mid darkness glows, in glimmering shadows gropes
To steady the trembling heart, make firm our hopes.
As one soul's fire, you set the world aflame.
With torch in hand, your love a restless flame,
Enkindles hearts with rays of hope serene,
With justice, peace, and truth as cressets seen
On sentry watch our freedom's foe to tame.

You took the helm and pledged yourself anew
To turn the tide of history's stormy seas
That lash our shores and threaten liberty.
Set loose the sail, embark on frontier new
To crest the world with strength and valor true
Warm justice echo o'er unmeasured span
With duty's footprints firmly in the sand
Of time as anchors weigh each challenge new.

You gave your life that we may have a dream.
Such courage must in valiant souls abide
Where truth stands poised to triumph far and wide.
And from its spirit noble and supreme
A heritage of glory casts her beam
Upon your life, a flame of charity
To be your warmth for all eternity
In blissful peace where reigns no greater theme.

The torch is passed, once borne with majesty,
To youthful hearts with firm, heroic wills,
Undaunted till this priceless dream fulfil.
We pledge ourselves with love's intensity
To guard our freedom for posterity,
With vigor, character and courage bold,
As faithful as Olympic Flame of old,
We shall hold high the torch of Liberty.

Dedication

JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
President of the United States
May 29, 1917 - November 22, 1963

Now the trumpet summons us again - not as a call to bear arms, though arms we need - not as a call to battle, though embattled we are - but a call to bear the burden of a long twilight struggle, year in and year out, "rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation" - a struggle against the common enemies of man: tyranny, poverty, disease and war itself . . .

In the long history of the world, only a few generations have been granted the role of defending freedom in its hour of maximum danger. I do not shrink from this responsibility - I welcome it. I do not believe that any of us would exchange places with any other people or any other generation. The energy, the faith, the devotion which we bring to this endeavor will light our country and all who serve it - and the glow from that fire can truly light the world . . .

Let Us Go Forth to Lead the Land We Love, . . .

RELIGION CLASS

Catholic education paves the way to Catholic leadership. Students have, in the fullness of the Faith, the sound principles on which a happy future can be built. They must live these principles. The Catholic Church invites you and challenges you to be a Christian leader! Fr. Rengers, their teacher, has a powerful influence over these young lives.

That Here on Earth God's Work Must Truly Be Our Own.

SOCIOLOGY CLASS

It is Father Duffy's hope that his students will eventually take their place in life as a well-informed, interested, and active Christian citizen of mature judgment.

SPEECH CLASS

The class derived many benefits from this class. The ability acquired in public speaking helped them in their social relations. The powers acquired in a debate may enable one to get a job. The confidence gained in the classroom proved most helpful when called on to talk in the school assembly.

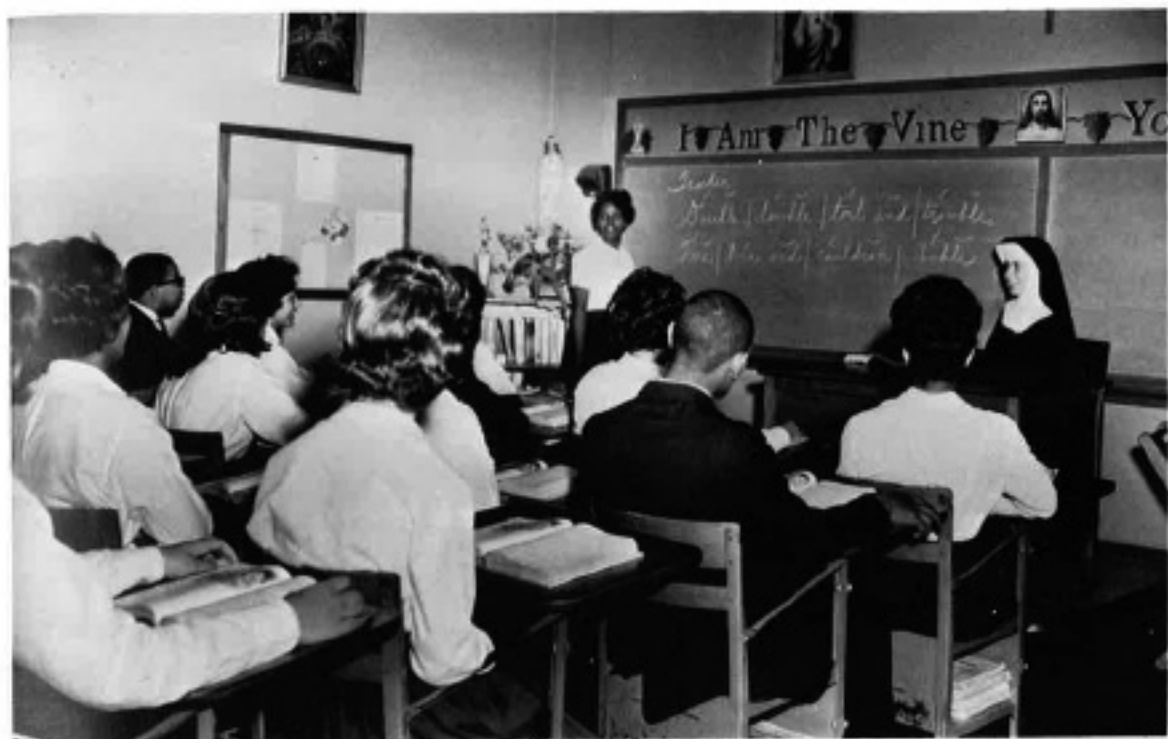

Sallie Manuel demonstrates how to be effective on the telephone.
