

THE EAGLE

ALMA MATER

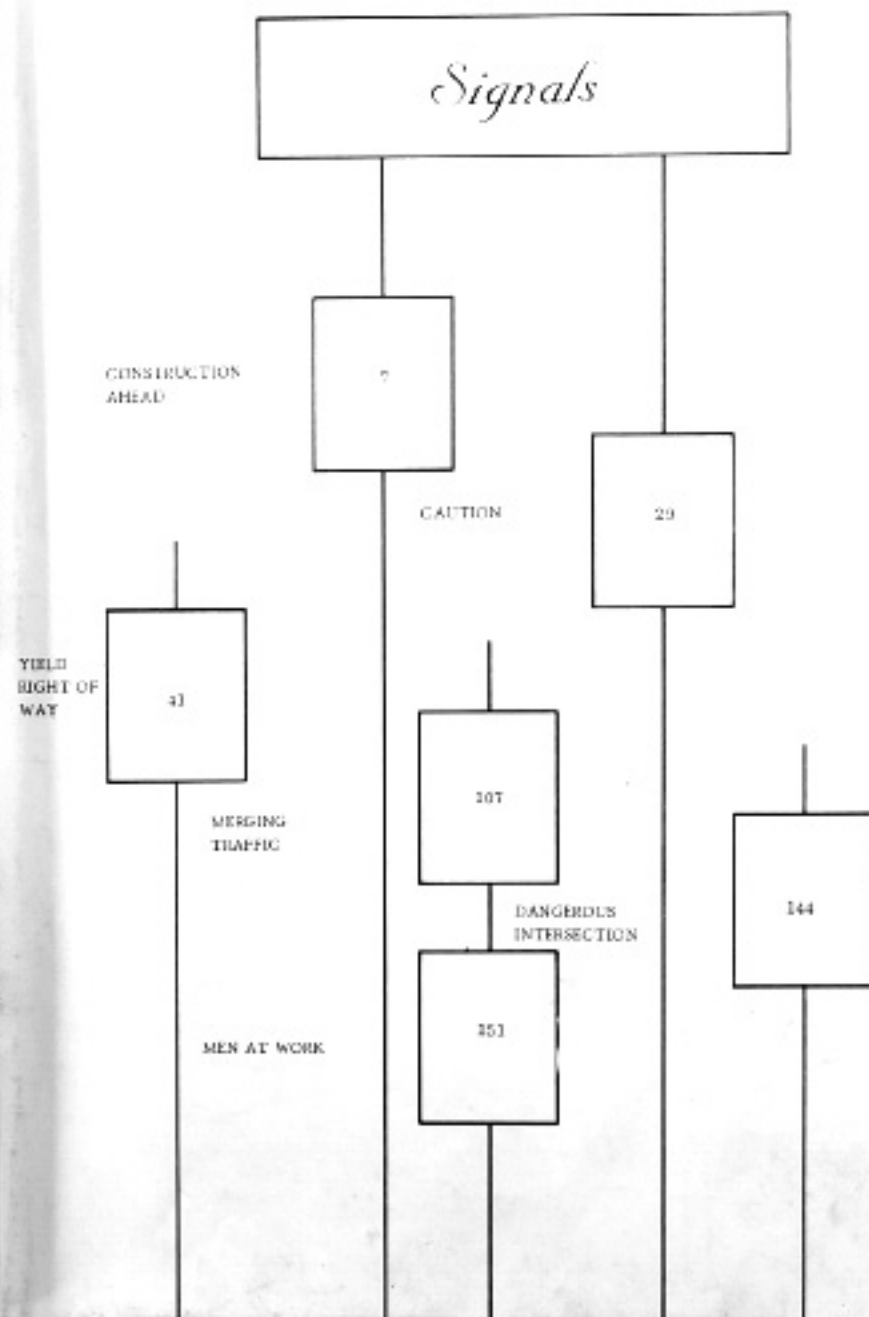

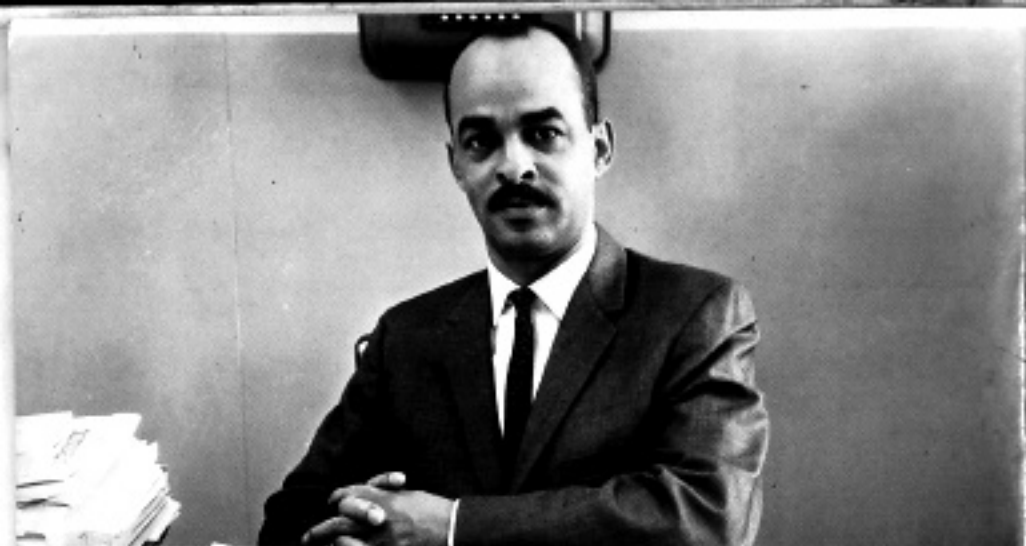

O Adam Carlson High
May your walls forever stand
To give a noble heritage
To our glorious land.

Our colors brave and bold
And deeds as yet we know
Will stand out in years to pass
Never to grow old.

We never shall forget
The many things you've done
We pray God bless you evermore
Adam Carlson High.

Foreword

The members of the 1965 Eagle Staff, students, and sponsors have labored through what can be termed a hard year to present to you the 1965 Eagle as a pictorial history of the events at Adam Carlson High School. We hope that these scenes of hard work, play, success and failure will serve not only as pleasant memories for the years to come, but as sufficient evidence that we are preparing ourselves to face the challenges imposed on us by a changing and competitive world.

It is the wish of the yearbook staff, and all other persons who made the 1965 Eagle possible, that you appreciate what we have compiled here. As you turn the pages of this edition of the Eagle, our hope is that you will be encouraged by its content.

Finally, we wish to express gratitude to the principal, teachers, sponsors, and students who have helped to make this yearbook a success. Especially deserving of our thanks is Miss Melba Batiste, the dynamic and indefatigable supervisor of the 1965 Eagle.

Dedication

The class of 1965 proudly and affectionately dedicates the 1965 EAGLE to you, George Bourda, Ronald Charles, Prosper Chretien, Murphy Johnson, Jr., Willie Solomon, Genevieve Andrus, Rose M. Narcisse, Carolyn Patterson, and Caroline Sam.

The years after graduation were the most important ones in their lives. They have set their goals carefully and are now striving to attain them. In order to make their youthful dreams become a reality, they must work. Their quest to fulfill their dreams may be difficult, but not impossible.

Maturity and flexibility are the primary elements which will determine their success or failure. The world is ever-changing, and, in order to succeed, they must have the maturity to face it without qualms and the flexibility to change with it. If they hesitate or become complacent, their dreams will shatter, and they will be heard vainly echoing regret that "It might have been!"

Because they understood and tried to heed John Greenleaf Whittier's words

"God pity them both and pity us all
Who vainly the dreams of youth recall
For of all sad words of tongue or pen
The saddest are these: 'It might have been!'"

Staunch sentinel in a world of turmoil, the public school guides and prepares the students toward a brighter future.

We must always have old memories and young hopes. Arlene Housaye

Each edition of the Eagle builds memories and projects hope and aspiration in us all. The growth, development, and quality of the Eagle reflect the growth and development of Adam Carlson High. The quality exhibited here is the result of patience, diligence, research, and above all an unwavering desire on the part of the Eagle's staff to graphically portray for posterity, an account of the groups, individuals, and activities determined to develop a rich heritage.

To Carlinites everywhere, be assured that your contributions to our heritage are remembered. May your thoughts, actions, and achievements reflect our hope for you. Finally, may your achievements serve as beacons to light the pathway of Carlinites forever--and continue to provide pleasant memories and youthful ideals.

FULTON A. RAYMOND, SR.
Assistant Principal

You can turn any corner, glance down any corridor and find our friend, Mr. Raymond. There is no problem too small for him to listen quietly and diagnose the trouble. If he does not have the solution you always walk away with the feeling there's someone who cares!

His personality reaches into the heart of each student. To know Mr. Raymond is to love and respect him as a friend and as Assistant principal of Adam Carlson High School.

Office Staff's
Duties Are Many
and Varied

Typing, filing, answering phone calls, preparing school circulars, keeping custody of school organizations' funds, sending supply orders, mailing checks, keeping school accounts - these are but a few of the many and diverse duties of our office secretary.

The secretary is always prepared to aid and direct those who seek the service of the office, to assist Mr. Braud and Mr. Raymond in their work, and to meet all the little emergencies that are bound to come up now and then in a school containing more than 1450 busy people, each one with his own problems, duties, and responsibilities.

Faculty

With each new year comes an increase in number of faculty as well as students. This year brought many new teachers to Adam Carlson High School and witnessed the return of many "old timers" of whom we are extremely proud. These teachers work to develop improved methods of conveying their knowledge to the student. Through their efforts, advanced placement courses in mathematics have become available. In our English program, the student is given access to greater and more varied paths of learning. Doors are opened to him in the fields of literature, philosophy, grammar, speech, and composition. In every subject the needs of the students are recognized, and the teachers strive to create a class atmosphere which will best stimulate each individual.

Behind our faculty stand our administration - the framework of our school. A heavy load is placed upon their shoulders as the various facets of our school, from student activities to curriculum planning, must be co-ordinated. Faculty, administrators, and all the other staff members are the backbone of the academic part of our school.

MRS. LIVINGSTON

Ever since Aristotle applied the scientific method to the phenomena of his environment . . . men have had an insatiable desire to cast light on the mysteries of nature . . . Today the science department of Adam Carlson High School furthers this pursuit by giving incentive . . . and a firm background in modern scientific concepts to some of the researchers of tomorrow . . . Both in classroom discussion and laboratory experimentation . . . the enlightening guidance of the science teachers paves the way toward an inconceivably wonderful future.

Physical Education

MRS. ABBOTT

Physical fitness is stressed in the athletic program of Adam Carlson High. There are various forms of athletics at A. C. H. S. Many hours of hard practice and after school sessions are spent in order to prepare students to be fit and capable to win the title "athletes."

MR. HILTZ

Social Studies

Social studies: A study of the world today in order to improve the world of tomorrow.

Home Economics

Homemaking: A design for living.

Industrial Arts

In our industrial arts classes we endeavor to train the hands . . . as well as the mind. Within the walls of the industrial arts building . . . boys or young men . . . are learning to make a piece of wood or leather come alive and take form. These men may build our roads . . . construct our bridges, or simply provide the ebony lamp for our den. No matter how large or small the job . . . their task is important for themselves . . . as well as others.

This year was a busy one as we were able to have many more students high organization and developed our own identity.

We did not leave the school building without a strong, but broader organization. The organization was highly-organized and well-run. We student members were able to join if we could meet the needs of that organization. We also acted for the future, we were of new interest in many ways, making the school as a whole through the year.

We got satisfaction in having a new organization, organizing a group of students, and of an organization on the North to have a new influence during North Pacific.

Organizations served an important part in our daily life by opening new fields of interest and encouraging new friendships. They provided entertainment, but more important, they taught us to work together.

Leadership and co-operation through group activity and organized fun came "Through These Doors."

Motion - We move, we think, we talk, we act.

Rush to classes. Rush to catch the bus. Ever hurrying to grasp the knowledge waiting for us, constantly alert to new and exciting ideas.

This is our MOVEMENT towards education. Thought-provoking classes challenge the mind. Engage conversations communicate impressions. Fast-moving athletics develop sportsmanship and co-ordination. From extracurricular activities come opportunities for leadership and honor. The positions we will hold in our future work depend on our movements of today.

I'm the greatest!

Put your hands on your hips -

Caught for a loss by Carlson's Big Braiser

- and let your backbone dip

I just give you the ball. You worry about getting it in.

In Loving Memory of

SALLY ALEXANDER

Died February 24, 1965

One month has passed since
that sad day,
The one we loved was called away.
God took her home, it was His will,
But in our hearts she liveth
still.

Nothing can ever take away.
The love a heart holds dear.
Fond memories linger every day.
Remembrance keeps her near.

We do not forget you, nor do we intend.
We think of you often and
will to the end.
Gone and forgotten by some
you may be,
But dear to our memory you ever will be.
Sadly missed by all
of us

Final Deadline

As this last sheet of copy goes to press, and the re-usable materials are put back into the cabinets for the last time, and as mountains of mistakes and wasted materials and soft drink cups are thrown away, we, the 1966 EAGLE STAFF, have a sneaking suspicion that the 1966 Eagle will be the finest most beautiful annual in the history of Adam Carlson High School. It must be, because we have loved building it so much!
