JOSEPH S. CLARK ALMA MATER

I

Because We sing a song to Alma Mater,
Laudations from our heart
Ring loud and true,
We know they echo far
Beyond the blue -
Oh, Glory is our school
Joseph S. Clark.

II

Because we sing a pledge to Alma Mater,
Loyal and faithful we will be to thee,
Our love like beacon lights
Through years will be -
Oh, Glory is our school
Joseph S. Clark.

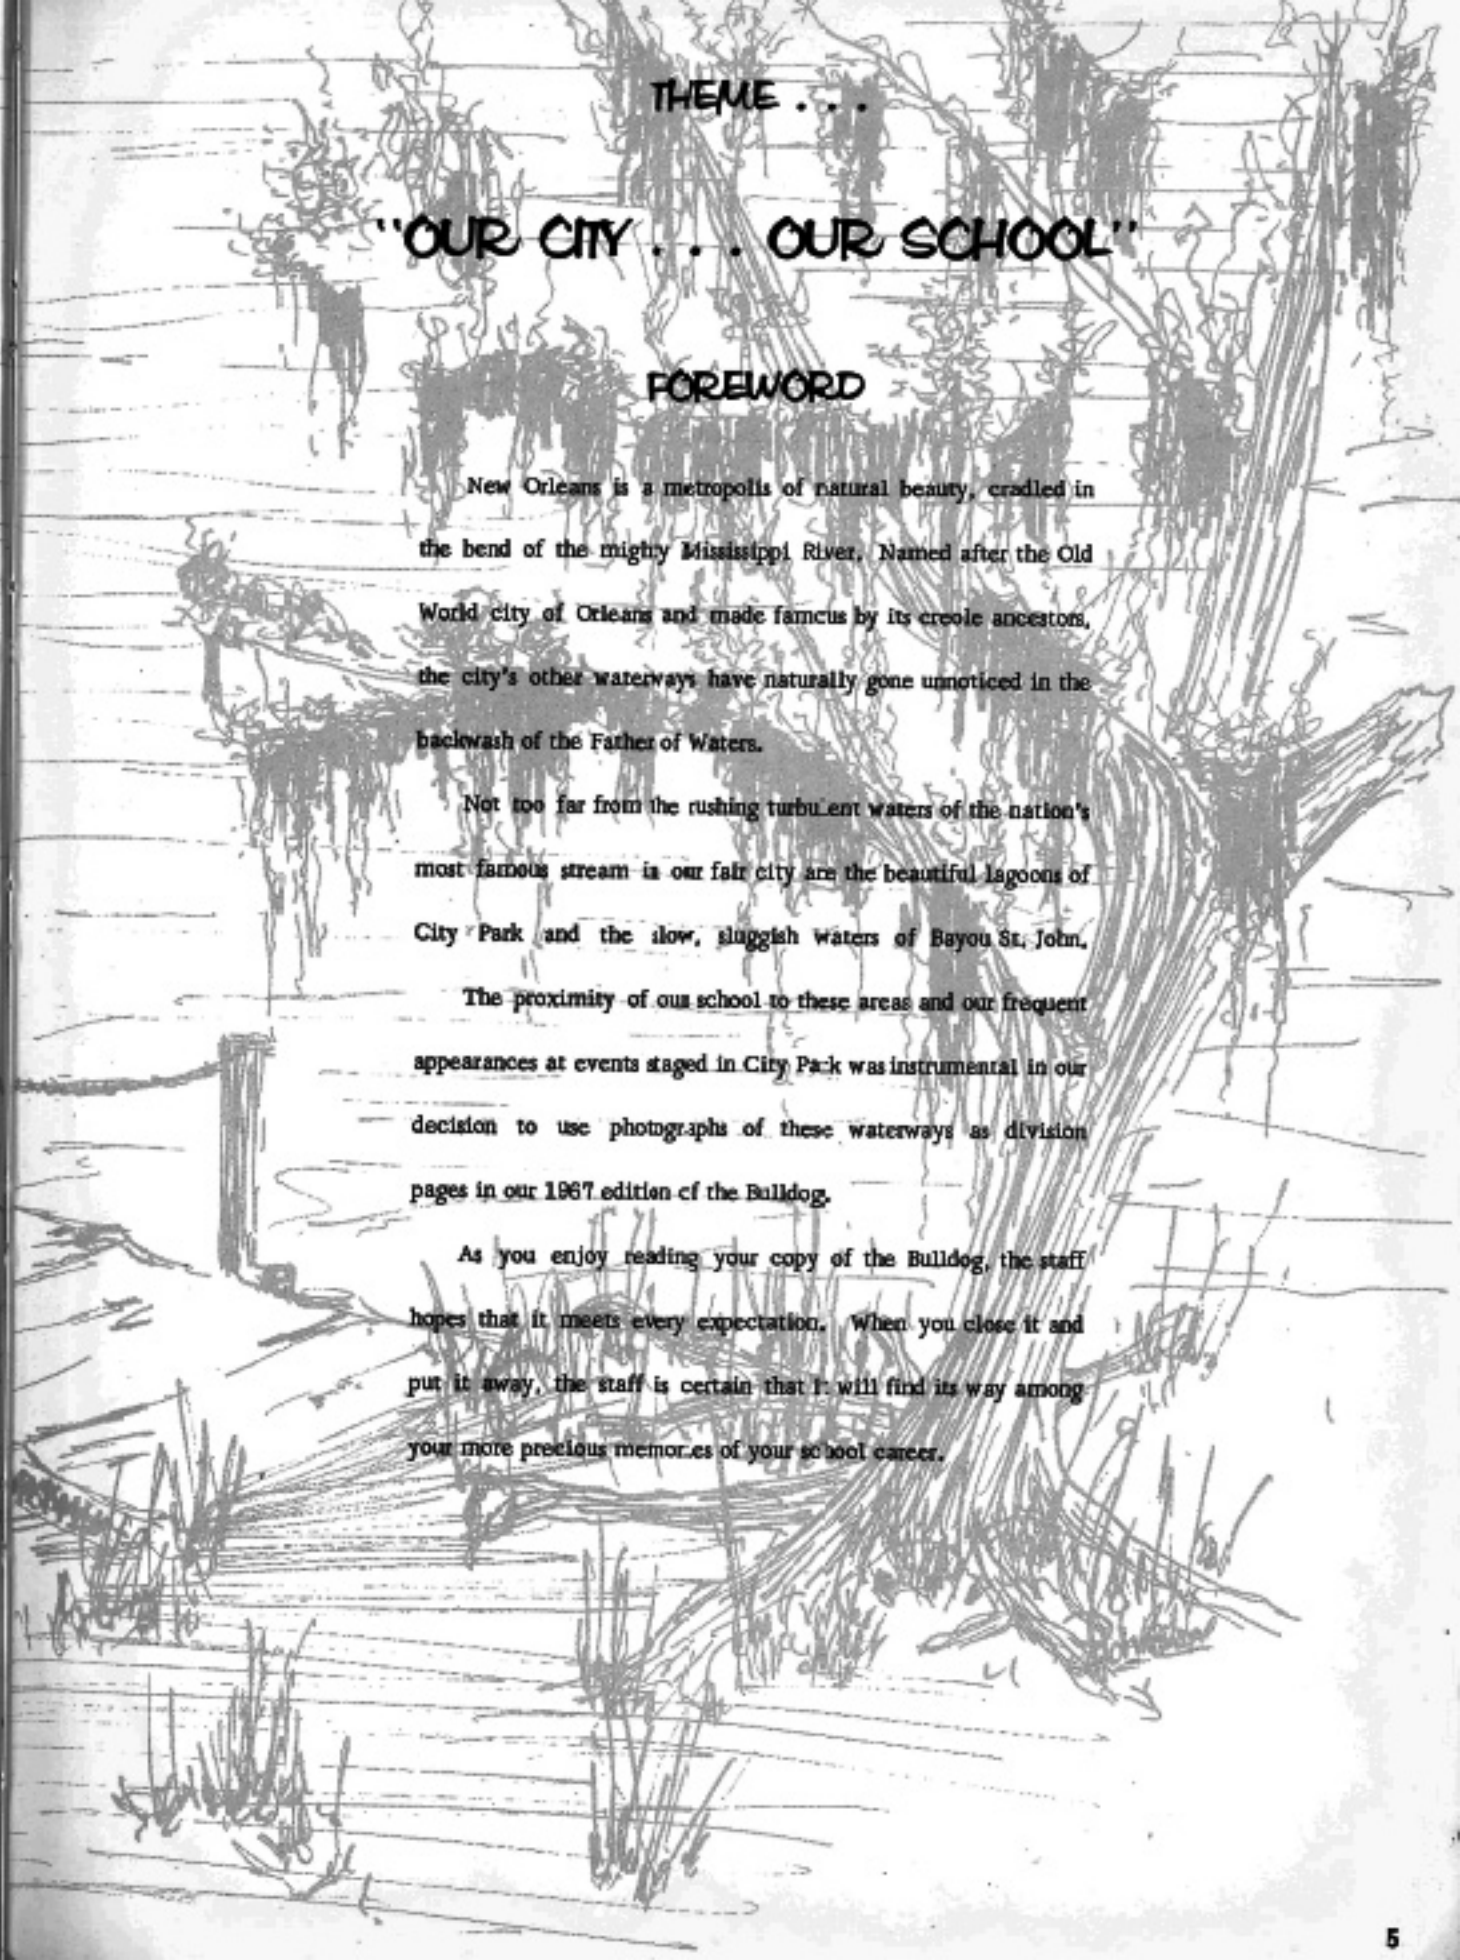

III

Symbolic of the aims of Alma Mater,
Unfurl the Banners of Crimson and Gray
Preserved be our destiny we pray -
Oh, Glory is our school
Joseph S. Clark.

THEME . . .

"OUR CITY . . . OUR SCHOOL"

FOREWORD

New Orleans is a metropolis of natural beauty, cradled in the bend of the mighty Mississippi River. Named after the Old World city of Orleans and made famous by its creole ancestors, the city's other waterways have naturally gone unnoticed in the backwash of the Father of Waters.

Not too far from the rushing turbulent waters of the nation's most famous stream in our fair city are the beautiful lagoons of City Park and the slow, sluggish waters of Bayou St. John.

The proximity of our school to these areas and our frequent appearances at events staged in City Park was instrumental in our decision to use photographs of these waterways as division pages in our 1967 edition of the Bulldog.

As you enjoy reading your copy of the Bulldog, the staff hopes that it meets every expectation. When you close it and put it away, the staff is certain that it will find its way among your more precious memories of your school career.

DEDICATION

We, the staff of the Bulldog, proudly dedicate the 1987 edition of the yearbook to youth. We dedicate it to youth who is seemingly blinded by obstacles such as feelings of uncertainty, fear of the future, and unclear goals, and becomes discouraged in its eagerness to go forward. The staff offers this dedication to youth, who, because of lack of communication with adults and conflict of ideals, finds himself in a dilemma where one step forward could cause several backward. We dedicate it also to the determined youth who continually strives for the independence, freedom, and responsibility of adulthood.

We most often associate youth with seemingly, never ending activities. Complementing our academic ambitions here at Clark is a steady stream of club initiations, athletic events, assembly programs, and occasional dances.

Although the hundreds of faces reflect varying moods, they form the composite - you, the student body. Yesterday they may have been happy faces, today sad ones, and yet tomorrow, they will be bold faces ready to meet the many challenges of a complex and technical society.

Longfellow the great American poet once said "Youth comes but once in a lifetime." The critical days of our young lives, fought with trial and error and failure and success, are experienced at our beloved school. Let us make the best of them.

SALUTE

New Orleans Public Schools 125th Anniversary

During American Education Week, Joseph S. Clark Senior High School joined hands with other schools in the system in observance of the hundred twenty-fifth anniversary of public education in our city. From the unsuccessful attempts of Governor Unzaga in establishing a system of public education in the latter part of the eighteenth century until the success of Governor William C. C. Claiborne, public education was constantly receiving attention and support.

Dr. Carl J. Dolce, B.A., M.E., Ed.D.
Superintendent
of Orleans Parish Public Schools

In 1826 two public elementary schools and a central high school were formed. From that meager beginning, our system has grown to 125 institutions. Though there have been many benefactors, John McDonogh, a Baltimore merchant, is credited with leaving much of his fortune to support public education.

With increase emphasis on technology in our modern, complex society, the role of public education has grown. Clark High salutes our parish system for a job well done in the past and its contingency plans to meet the future!

Gracefully gliding below heavily vegetated growth is a covey of ducks in a lagoon of City Park, one of the longest municipal parks of the United States.

Repertory Theatre

The students of Orleans Parish Public Schools will have the opportunity to enjoy four live plays this year. The National Endowment for the Arts has granted funds for initial production costs. The Louisiana Council for Music and the Performing Arts, along with many public-spirited citizens, has helped provide funds for renting the Civic Theater. The United States Office of Education and the Orleans Parish School Board have cooperated in seeing that 36,000 school children can enrich their lives through theater. We, at J. S. Clark welcome this opportunity.

Track, a notable sport at Clark, promises to fulfill our school's record of prestige in that area. In the past years we have been proud of our "swift fleet". Now under the leadership of a new coach, Mr. Emile Jones, and with the Bulldogs' eager to break their leashes, we have little reason not to be proud.

This year's football team enjoyed the most successful season in many a year at Clark. This can be attributed to first, the leadership of the Bulldogs' new coach, Mr. Turner Thomas, and secondly to the talent and courage of the "little" Bulldogs. Two defeats in nine games marred the Bulldogs' record but enabled them to finish second in the downtown district. Thus, we had excitement following "our team" to a most glorious season.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK —

As we look back, we see Joseph S. Clark filled with the laughter and spirit of its students. Although we shall no longer pass through its halls or sit in its classrooms, the memories of past experiences will be unforgettable.

In planning the Bulldog, it was our objective to produce a book that would be forever cherished by the Clark family. Through the diligent efforts of the yearbook staff and its advisor, I believe that this objective has been fulfilled.

We, the graduates, will go our separate ways using the knowledge we have gained to reach our successes. Tomorrow, when it is not so easy to think back on 1987, we will treasure the memories this book has stored for us.
