The Foreword

Because of the many happy days we have spent together, we suggest that you take this yearbook which we hope will help you recall many of your classmates, and glance through it and reminisce.

As we leave Webster to tread new territory, we hope, by looking through our yearbook you will remember the love and loyalty that was retained from. . . "Webster, Dear Old Webster."

Superintendents of schools in Webster Parish
To my friends and members of the Annual Staff; Greetings!

My sincere congratulations to you in this worthy undertaking. This record of the achievements of Webster during the 1963-64 school year is beautifully symbolic of the rapid strides made in the life history of the school and its contributions to the well-being of the community. May it serve as a real inspiration to all of us to aspire to even greater heights of attainments.

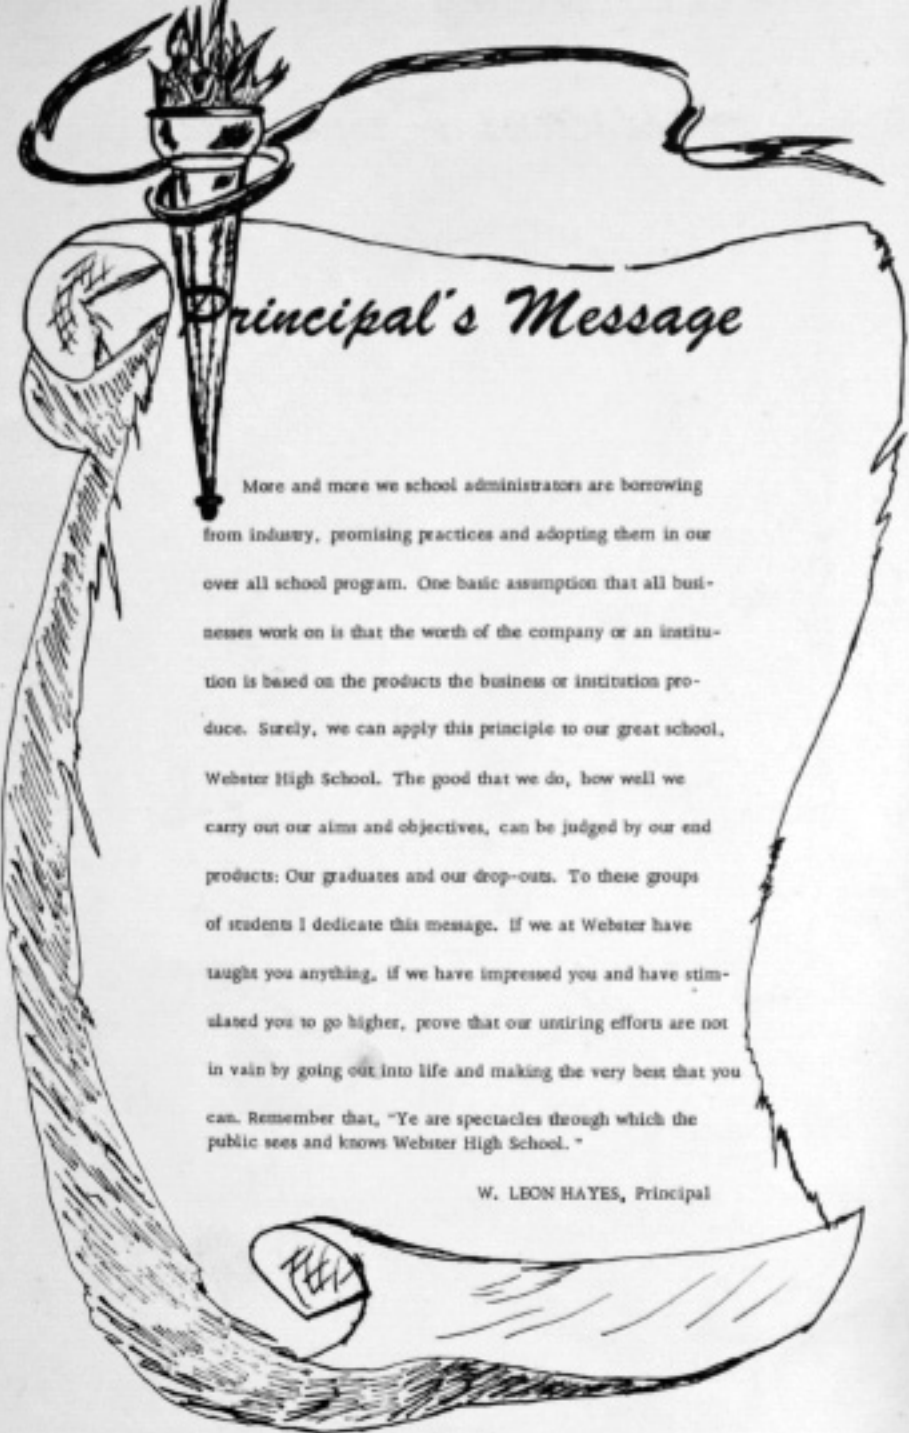

Sincerely yours,
Grace N. Landry

ADMINISTRATION

PRINCIPAL W. LEON HAYES

Principal's Message

More and more we school administrators are borrowing from industry, promising practices and adopting them in our over all school program. One basic assumption that all businesses work on is that the worth of the company or an institution is based on the products the business or institution produce. Surely, we can apply this principle to our great school, Webster High School. The good that we do, how well we carry out our aims and objectives, can be judged by our end products: Our graduates and our drop-outs. To these groups of students I dedicate this message. If we at Webster have taught you anything, if we have impressed you and have stimulated you to go higher, prove that our untiring efforts are not in vain by going out into life and making the very best that you can. Remember that, "Ye are spectacles through which the public sees and knows Webster High School."

W. LEON HAYES, Principal

Assistant Principal

TO: Annual Staff

It is our hope that this book, with its many detailed and outlined activities will encourage our boys and girls to stay in school and prepare themselves for a greater and challenging tomorrow.

We may safely predict that education will be needed more in the future than it has been in the past, if we are to cope with the problems that will claim our attention.

Let us let Webster be our guiding light in preparing for an eventful and changeable future.

Webster, dear old Webster,
We owe our all to thee.
Webster, dear old Webster,
We pledge our loyalty.
To the white and blue
We'll always be true,
Webster we love you.

II

Webster, dear old Webster,
The dearest school of all.
Webster, dear old Webster,
We will ever heed they call.
No matter where we roam,
You'll be our high-school home.
Webster we love you.

III

For Webster, dear old Webster,
Let your banners be unfurled.
For Webster, dear old Webster,
Sing praises o'er all the world
And the birds as they sing,
Will adoration bring
To our beloved old high-

Memento to the Juniors

As Juniors we inherited great responsibilities from the class of Fifty-three,
And we have tried to carry out our responsibilities to a "T".
Juniors of 1954, you are next in line to this tremendous throne,
So these gracious responsibilities we are proudly passing on.
What a pleasure it has been to claim a school like Webster High.
Yet for the class of Fifty-four, it has come time to retire.

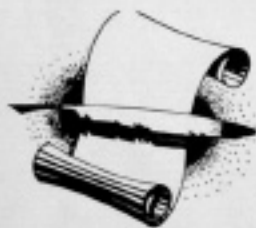

Each year a better Webster has been left for the Juniors to interchange,
And an even better Webster have they managed to arrange.
Progressive Seniors of 1955, we wish you to stay in line
By continuing to carry on the work that makes a school thrive.
We beg of you to be the best, in thought and in action,
To please add honor to our school rather than mere subtraction.

As we pass through life dreary as it may seem,
We'll continue to prepare ourselves to conquer it like a dream.
It is very hard to prophesy what the future has in store,
Though it is easy to look back and say what we did years ago.
We're now building a foundation that we feel will make us proud,
One we decided to build ourselves and not to follow the crowd.

Only a few more days and we face life as it is
Which will bring on laughter and cause others to shed tears.
Still we'll do our very best in contributing to the world
The things that we think are best for other boys and girls.
The many examples that we set, we hope to be the best,
Hoping and praying that we will be an inspiration for progress.

These are the last days at Webster for the class of 1954,
And as the time draws nearer we regret leaving more and more.
As the years pass on we'll hold up for Webster's name,
Though we depart with each other we will bring to Webster, fame.
Forever we will remember the Juniors of dear old Webster High,
To the Seniors in the future we bid you all "GOOD-BYE."
