Fellow
Students, Doors play an important role in everyone's life. There are many that each of us is required to open, enter, and perhaps close during our life.

This yearbook is centered around the idea of doors. Within the following pages are depicted the highlights and the doors each of us has passed through during the course of years.

It is the desire of the 1962 Staff that each student of Webster High School will find for himself such a door that he can open, enter, and pass through successfully on his way through life.

Sincerely,
The 1962 Staff
Dorothy Jean Lee

The Wolf Staff of '62' is very happy to bring this edition to you. We hope this yearbook will mean as much to you as it does to us.

Here is the tour of our beloved Alma Mater, "Webster High." We hope you will enjoy this tour around the Wolf's Den.

Our last year at Webster, along with the past years of experience shall always be remembered and cherished by all of us.

This is the "62" edition of the DEN OF THE WOLVES.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Each of us should know that education holds the key to many advantages. There are also disadvantages that must be overcome by the Youth as he climbs the ladder to success. We will be measured by our abilities and qualifications. Therefore, let us make our goals the highest.

You will find the sails of our souls set for the high voyages of training and Spirit which gives life its most exalted meaning. It brings back cargo of higher standards of education.

CO-EDITOR

Dedication

We, the faculty and student body of Webster High School, Minden, Louisiana, do hereby dedicate this Annual to Mrs. Mildred Louise Citson, upon the retirement of her services from the classroom. We feel that no honor is too great to bestow upon her for the great good that she has done in helping us to advance along educational, civic, and spiritual lines.

May God bless her in all of her endeavors.

PRINCIPAL'S

MESSAGE

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

We are living in challenging times. Man has almost conquered space, yet as earthly creatures we have many imperfections. To the seniors who are graduating, may I challenge you to go out in this shrinking world and prepare yourselves, thus becoming contributing factors toward making this a better world to live in. don't be like "Chicken Little" who after an acorn hit him while sleeping under a tree, ran around telling his neighbors "the sky is falling." There are some moral lessons that can be learned from "Chicken Little's experience." (1) He should have been awake and about his business. (2) His "sky" was very small. (3) He did not wait or look to see what had hit him, he started running and telling. (4) some believed and told others. (5) He did not tell the truth.

Young graduates as you go out into the world of work or school, don't believe that the "sky is falling." Be up and about hard towards your objectives which should be noble, honest and sincere. Remember that the "sky" is boundless thereby giving you many unheard of opportunities to live and work. Tell the truth, search for the truth, know the truth so that they who hear you can believe and tell others. Plan deliberately and once you know where you are going proceed prayerfully. Remember "Chicken Little."
