Foreword

In an aura of excitement and in the grips of anticipation, we proudly present, to our sponsors, friends, and the world, the eighteenth edition of WA-LO-CO.

We chose as the theme the one-word statement "Moods." It is hoped that we can thoroughly exercise your mind, capture your thoughts and entertain your eyes with this effort.

With the hopes for blessings of the Moms and Pops of the entire Cohen Family in general, and the Gambo Capital of the world in particular, we say to you: May all of your present and future moods be happy and healthy ones.

As for now, we invite you to peruse through the pages of our WA-LO-CO 1971.

Editorial

JOYCE MARIE WINFREY
Editor-in-Chief of WA-LO-CO

I wish to say that I was very thrilled to have been selected the Editor-in-Chief of WA-LO-CO, 1971. I feel that it is the greatest honor a Cohenite can receive. There have been many fine editors through the eighteen years of our annual's existence and I know that they have stood head and shoulders above me but I am happy that I have been permitted to "slip through."

Our theme "MOODS" is a good one, I think. Our generation is one that presents many moods and some are questionable. For a mood there is a reason and our reasons are sometimes questionable. I feel, however, that "UNDERSTANDING" is the key to our future and unless we have it our moods will get out of control. Find out about your causes before you become involved. Don't be misled for you and I are the ones who will pay for our ignorance.

I have grown up during this year as your editor and I know that you, too, have grown. I pray that our growth is a fine beginning toward a meaningful and productive adulthood.

Dedication

MISS IRMA CEVASCO

On her certificate the name is "Mother Consiglia," because when her certificate was issued she was working in a religious order and giving her service to a group of selected young people in a distant city. When the penins to whom we dedicate this year-book came to Cohen, that day was one on which God smiled in His goodness and brought to us one who has been of inestimable value, service and worth to us. In years to come, there will be many of our young people who will have left us and gone to greater heights and will remember the influence that this teacher and friend has had upon their lives; and they will say to themselves that in her they had met a person with whom race, color, creed, or position counted as no qualities for judging the true worth of individuals.

Her devotion to her students, her loyalty to the school, her understanding of the problems of youth, her ability to conduct interesting and effective classes in spite of any difficulty which might have confronted her, - all these, have shown what a good teacher she is and what a dedicated person she is. Her encouraging her students to do their best and her understanding of the difficulties which confronted them stand foremost in the minds of those who work with her. Her sincere appreciation for her colleagues and her working with them at every opportunity, doing any task which might come to hand, has earned her their devotion and sincere respect; and it is with this devotion and respect that we dedicate our 1971 WA-LO-CO to Miss Irma Cevasco, friend, teacher, and Christian example.

Our Principal's Message

MR. ROBERT N. PERRY, JR.
M. A., Columbia University

As one goes along his path of life, the years seem to move more rapidly; and, before one has started a year, it seems, it is time for another one, and the years which are past are fewer than those which lie before. Each year is a gift given to us to use as we will, - to correct old mistakes, to gain new knowledge, to either grow wiser or more foolish. What we do depends upon us; and, as a year closes, we should look back upon the experiences of that year and make an evaluation of the use we have made of the time given us and the development of the talents which were given us by God.

Nothing pleases me more than, after a number of years, at some time when things seem hard, or discouragement sets itself upon me, to have a former student who has done well return to see us and tell of what he is doing, what his hopes and aspirations were, and how he has achieved. Immediately we receive a lift and fill ourselves with gladness that we have been a part of the making of that person. The interesting thing about this is that the student seldom remembers the things we thought were important THEN; BUT HE REMEMBERS THE SMALL, SEEMINGLY INSIGNIFICANT, THINGS which are a part of his past; the time the teacher advised him on a matter that worried him, - how she made him say a word over again and again until he pronounced it correctly, the time he had to play one line of music until it ran around in his head and he learned it. Simple things, yes; but so important.

So, in this message to you of our school family, I speak to you of small and simple things. The world has seemed to have become too busy or too thoughtless for the little things, - like courtesy, kindness, thoughtfulness, decency, and respect for ourselves and others. We seem so busy trying to "do our thing" that we forget all else. We seem set on mediocrity rather than excellence, asking that the inferior be judged "good enough" and shutting ourselves away from competition which will refine and polish us for a brilliant future. We are so anxious to have our "rights and privileges (which we usually turn into license)" that we have forgotten our responsibilities that are a part of those rights and privileges. We talk about our "heritage" of which we are so woefully ignorant that we would fail a simple test given on material taken from this same heritage. The superficial does not make reality; and we should not be deceived by superficiality. We are too busy to be courteous or kind because we often think that courtesy and kindness are easily mistaken by some people as a show of weakness, - and yet the greatest and strongest personalities were those who were kind and courteous.

It is our hope that students and teachers in our school will never become so "great" as to forget these simple qualities and small things; because, if we do, our true greatness will never be achieved; and the small ripple which we would have made on the sea of civilization will have died being born.

Sincerely,

Robert N. Perry Jr.

The Devil made me do it ...

Moods . . .

Strike up that band ...

Hold it baby ...

I'm concentrating ...

Moods . . .

We've got our own car now ...

If we hold our mouths right, it may help them ...

I'll sing if I wanna ...

Make no mistake ... I am the leader ...

Beats marching ...

We've got to do our best in front of this sellout crowd ...

The time is now ...

Not another penalty ...

Dig my nervous sign ...

Moods . . .

Must I crown Min Wa-Le-Co every year, Mama . . .

You do want that scholarship . . .

Lost another one . . . Touch-downs, that is . . .

Say, why don't you hit me with a little change . . .

Down girl! . . .

What you see is what you get . . .

First down or down you go . . .

Moods . . .

Hit him if you have to . . .

Woods . . .

Say "Boo" what about a few favored calls? . . .

Let me hurry up and get out of bounds . . .

Don't worry, I'll help you all I can . . .

Let me get in the game . . .

At this time . . .

See with it, that's his helmet . . .

Woods . . .

A thingy-two . . .

Everybody ready?

Honey, would you please march this time?

Casual Moods . . .

I beg your pardon honey, this class is crowded . . .

Really, I can't read . . .

What's his story? . . .

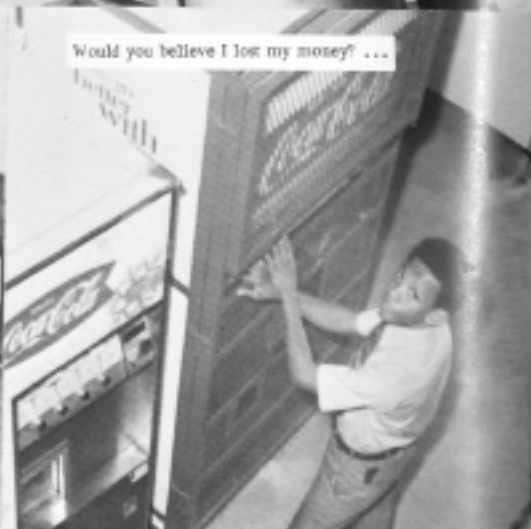

We're looking at the birdie . . .

One more time, class . . .

Would you believe I lost my money? . . .

I'm going to see this for myself . . .

That one had a little gravy on it . . .

Stand in the lunch line or I'll put you out . . .

Guam who is in here . . .

Ahh! Come right into my parlor . . .

Take over Wa-lo-Co . . .

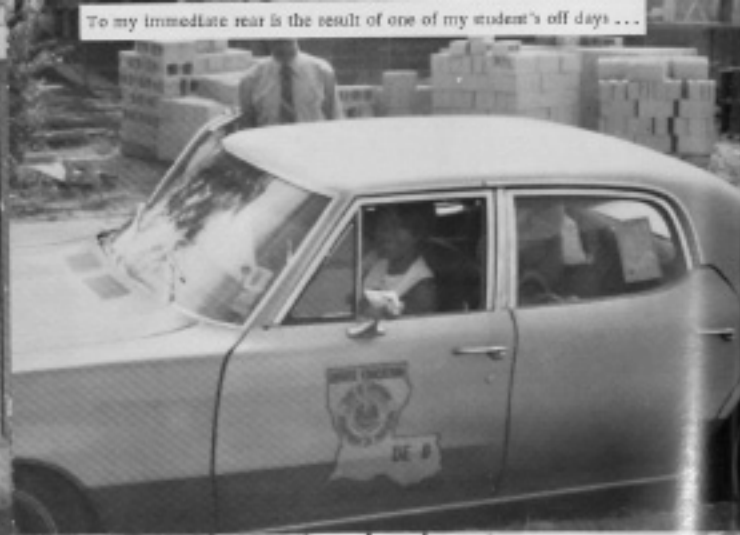

Help! ...

To my immediate rear is the result of one of my student's off days ...

Yes, I think it's funny ...

If the bum steps on your foot, step back on his! ...

London Bridge has fallen down, honey ...

All right now, lets cut that out ...

All he knows is "Go to the Office" ...

I wish she'd change the subject ...

Ooh! Something cracked ...

Fah - Humbug ...

I just can't seem to understand ...

Put in your own caption ...

Just can't see without my glasses ...

Do I have to go to detention again? ...

That ain't the way I heard it ...

Right on! ...

Say Ah ...

I'm afraid Mr. Perry brought those home yesterday ...

Barbecued beef again ...

I'm just not going to eat it ...

Take L. O. U. 's also ...

Very interesting ...

I wonder what I'm waiting for today ...

Let's sh this one out ...

That bell just won't ring ...

That was the biggest one I've ever seen ...

Don't touch this tray ...

What was that I just swallowed? ...

Five more classes to go ...

Man, it's Wednesday and here's my tie ...

Nice fat juicy ones today ...

Man, I hope they're barbecued, fried foods are too fattening ...

One, two, three, Aleria ...

Let me go sneak and kill this roach right fast ...

Start the music! ...

isn't hittin' on nothin' ...

There's that photographer again ...

Who is she grinning at? ...

That's right, Mr. Perry, make your "X" right here ...

I'd love to know what's going on ...

Shuck! They ran out again ...

Your guess is as good as mine ...

Ally we smart? ...

Adios, Amigos ... Nothing is wrong with my French ...

Put in your own caption ...

Let it be known that I am Jeff Chandler ...

I wonder if I look poned ...

Hurry, the bell is about to ring ...

Maybe later, honey ...

How much of this came in today?

Ha, ha, you can't see the rest of them ...

1956 Editor-In-Chief Returns

MRS. RAJEAN HAINES HENDERSON
B.S., Dillard University
Biology

Husband: Mr. Ronald S. Henderson

Children: Darryl, Darri Kaye and Donna

Previous Employment: Medical Research Specialist
Louisiana University Medical Center
Department of Pathology, specifically in the field of Histochemistry

Accomplishments: Participated technically and professionally in the production of approximately 40 scientific publications in the field of Histochemistry.
Shares authorship on 6 of these.

The staff of WA-LO-CO, Faculty and Student Body are happy to welcome back Mrs. Henderson, one of our most outstanding alumnae.

Editor-In-Chief 1971

JOYCE MARIE WINFREY

Joyce, many years from now, you will look back reminiscingly upon your year as Editor-in-Chief of Cohen's yearbook. Through these pages, you will still be able to realize the many disappointments, anxieties, frustrations, deadlines and wakeful nights. Foremost, however, you will recollect nostalgically, that these were some of the most stimulating and exciting days of your life. This annual will be the end-product of hard work and creativity.

As a former Editor-in-Chief, I express to you and your staff, my warmest congratulations on this year 1971 edition of WA-LO-CO.

Sincerely,

SINCERE CONGRATULATIONS

Joyce Marie Winfrey
Age: 2 Months

A soft expression of gratitude in the period of time we find ourselves, when a wave of transitional turbulence is a real factor to be dealt with. We would like to salute the courage, perseverance, patience and good will shown to us by our charming and debonair daughter, Joyce Marie.

Love always,
