John H. Martyn High School

*1108 Shrewsbury Road
New Orleans, Louisiana 70121*

Foreword

I believe ideas are conceived in the minds of men. In a lifetime one has many ideas, some of them are good and some are not so good. The 1969 Indian is portraying a very good idea.

With a theme of "Around The School In 180 Days," the 1969 Indian endeavors to show to its cosmopolitan viewers most of the activities that took place on our campus during the 180 days we were there.

Our Martyn family can be considered a large one, yet it is close and cooperative. It is stratified into a faculty and a vigorous and hustling student body, all working together to carry out that great task placed upon college-bound students of America. The 1969 students of John H. Martyn embraced their tasks with eagerness and effort - the education of the young people today, for leadership in the world tomorrow.

As you turn these pages, you will remember, relive, regret and resolve, but the school term has passed and one cannot recall it. It was not a bad year though, so relive it as you turn these pages - turn if you will, and view at your leisure "Around The School In 180 Days."

Dedication.....

We dedicate this yearbook to one, who for many years, served as teacher and who during those years, labored, served, and compassionately influenced scores of students whom she has taught.

Her energetic nature has inspired many young hearts and her jovial personality has created a lasting impression in the minds of the entire John H. Martyn family.

With a deep sense of pride and genuine affection, we dedicate the 1969 Indian to Mrs. Hazel Rhea Hurst.

ADMINISTRATION

MR. LAWRENCE JOHNSON

Principal

A MAN OF GREAT FAME

Gladly do we extend our most cordial felicitations to the Class of '69. You have reached a crucial point in your young lives.

Daily, there is more evidence of the progressive achievement toward which our students may look forward. I believe, with all sincerity, that the efforts made here at John Martyn to provide you with knowledge, skills, attitudes and appreciations have been rewarding.

The solid character training and discipline which you have received will prove most important to you as you step out in pursuit of your various fields of endeavor. Certainly, the inspiration derived from this excellent training, along with the unselfish dedication to high ideals to which you have been exposed during your stay in this school should give you the stability and idealism so vital to leaders in your respective areas.

You have received more than your predecessors ... you are honor bound to give more. Will you?

The answer lies in what you do ... how well you achieve as you leave John H. Martyn.
